

Bad Women.

I met Sir Richard and Lady twice at supper, among distinguished people of Upper Bohemia. My impression is of a man who looks nothing but the heroic figure he described in Lady Burton's romances; but he fascinated me nevertheless, not by those "gipsy eye talks of old," but by his unaffected, every-day manners, his features his "far-away look," aspect, more particularly by his head and what I knew of his character, his strange

An Academy Chat on Criticism.

The truth is there is too much "cock-sureness" in current criticism and too little time to be occluded about anything. There is probably no journalist to-day whose duties are as onerous and so ill-paid as those of the critic. He has to read more criticism itself than that of the critical faculty. Reading the notices of the Royal Academy one is inclined to support certain leading painters in the opinion that current art criticism is ill-informed, and generally untrue.

Unless a man has undergone a certain amount of training as a painter, and understands the technicalities of the art, how is he going to offer anything like a useful criticism to the average artist? He cannot comprehend the difficulties of the works that a painter has set himself, his aim and purpose, nor

VOLUNTEER GOSSIP

On May the members of the Surrey Twenty Club competed at Blisley, the scores made assisting the captain of the county team, who was also the referee, in the competition. At 200, 500, and 670 yards, Pte. W. B. Webb, 3rd West Surrey, was again top with 97 (2d. 34, 33), but being penalized for a bad shot at 500 yards. The winners at Pte. Lee, 3rd West Surrey, and Pte. Few, 2nd West Surrey, with 91 points each. The next best totals were registered by Pte. Comber, 4th East Surrey, and 3rd West Surrey, 88 each. Pte. Webb, 3rd West Surrey, 86 each. Pte. Howells, 2nd East Surrey, and Pte. Hunter, 2nd West Surrey, 85 each.

I am sorry that Mr. T. B. Dewar, who presented the valuable contest which was completed at the Home District Rifle Meeting, was absent for the Home District Rifle Meeting, as the contest, owing to an attack of influenza. The only fault to be found with the arrangements for the competition was that the time for the contest was too short, and the target accommodation was available. The City Militia team, who won, was composed of the following:—Capt. C. F. Heyward (who on Friday won the Champion Cup of the Army in the Home District Meeting), Col.-sergt. Anderson, Col.-sergt. Fiddowes, Col.-sergt. Ginn, Sergt. Ginn, Sergt. Howells, and Sergt. Martin.

The feature of the contest for the "Daily Telegraph" Cup were the continued success of the I. R. B. in team shooting (they have won the Mappin Cup 3 or 6 times, the Mullins Cup 3 or 6 times, and the "Daily Telegraph" Cup 3 or 6 times), Col.-sergt. Anderson being an ideal team leader; also the good work put in by the Post Office Rifles in this competition (they were 1st in the Home District Meeting, London Irish, under Capt. Lloyd. The driver of the Guards was superb, and the volleys of the R.A.C. were perfect.

The members of the North London Rifle Club had fine and bright weather at Ilford on May 10, 2nd, and the scores were:—1st, 10 to 2, 0 each, kept down the scores. The over from Fibrigbt. Their rate must be averaged over 4 miles per hour.

It was only by a kind of accident that the second prize in the "Dewar" was not carried off by a team of the auxiliary forces as was the first. The London Scottish team, who was commanded by Capt. and Adj. N. J. made a total only 13 points behind that of the fortunate team of the "Dewar" in this definite manner. It was not accounted for by the loss of 3 shots (the last volley), through being too slow. The watchful officer in charge the firing point, with watch in hand, stopped the firing, and the minutes allowed had expired. Had he waited another second, 80 cartridges would have found their way to the targets, and the score would have been 100. The last volley over 20 points was in the 30 rounds actually fired they tottered 435 points. The 10 months practice with the Wefford they will probably not fall through slowness, and they will be very formidable opponents for either the Militia or the Guards.

Dr. Omer, sergent. E. Tatra, a well-known advocate for the cause of the natives, has written a pamphlet which sends me a copy of the resolutions attending the formation of Volunteer Reserves in Western Australia. The pamphlet, "Reserve Forces in Western Australia," documents as well as it gives at length the details of our formation, and the qualifications necessary for

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Monday afternoon Mr. G. T. Wade, M.P., President of the Board of Trade, was the principal speaker at the Amrose League demonstration held at the National Hall, Croydon, which was crowded in every part. The right gentleman, who was accorded an enthusiastic reception, congratulated James' President (Mrs. Peard) on the immense gathering, and proceeded after to a statement made in Croydon on Wednesday by Mr. Lough, that the result of the pursuit of the Government's policy was that the Government was deserted, France ruined, and Turkey strengthened; and said that assuming those assumptions were true he (Mr. Ritchie) did ask upon whose shoulders would the blame? If there were any principles in the cardinal article of the programme of the Radical party a few years ago it was the Concert of Europe, but indirectly the Concert of Europe discontinued in action because the German Emperor had been elected. As far as certainty with regard to the Eastern question there was nothing which they opposed more. What had been the policy of the Government with regard to Greece? By means of strenuous labour and the part of Lord Salisbury they secured between all the Great Powers to this extent, that they had agreed upon the principle of non-interference, so that they could insist upon the Sultan carrying out, and if he did not they would pel him. It was at that very moment that the unhappy state of things occurred in Crete. Now, what was the state of things with regard to Crete when the disturbances arose in that island? The Powers had actually gained self-government for Crete, and the inhabitants, both Christians and Mohammedans, had expressed their warm gratitude. But reforms in Crete, which would have made the island peaceful and contented, were at all what Greece desired. Their only reason was to extend their empire to the east, and therefore the prospect of Greece settling down into a peaceful, happy and contented island was by no means pleasing to them. It is to PREVENT THESE REFORMS that the Great Powers have accepted that Greek emigration to the island to stir up the elements of disaffection and rebellion and enable Greece to step in as their avowed saviour. Some people might say that the Great Powers are greedy and covetous of the wealth and sovereignty from Turkey, were they not prepared to go a step farther and permit annexation to Greece? Well, if that plan had been adopted, they would have made the Balkan Peninsula a part of Europe. Some of the Great Powers would have permitted Greece to annex Crete because they believed it would set a bad example to the Balkan States. The Balkan Peninsula was the most inflammable part of Europe; they had there several small independthe States, each desirous of having a share of Turkish territory, and each willing to remain quiet so long as there was no question of anything. It was perfectly well known that these States would remain quiet so long as Greece was not permitted to extend her territory, and therefore they were anxious to ensure that the primary reason for an extension would have led to disastrous results, which all would have deplored. What, moreover, would have been the advantage of annexation to the Cretans? Greece was a country whose administration was inefficient, and whose taxes and customs were utterly inadequate when they were a highly-taxed people, unable to pay their debts, and compelled to repudiate their bondholders. The result, therefore, would have been affairs had been impeded and hampered by the conduct of the Opposition. In South Africa the Government had determined, whatever happened, that they should remain the paramount Power—that they would insist, whatever the cost, upon the observance to the letter of the Convention between this country and the Transvaal; but, instead of receiving support from Sir W. Harcourt and his party, the Government had to pay the sum of

WAR WITH THE TRANSVAAL.

It had always been the failing of the Radical party that they had been afraid to adopt a course which would really have been the means of preventing war. They might rely upon it that a country appeared unprepared to defend its rights, afraid to take action lest it might be interpreted as tending in that direction, that in such a policy lay the greatest danger to peace, and those were the greatest friends of peace who, looking a little ahead, made every preparation to defend whatever rights might be attacked. There could be no question at all that the action taken by her Majesty's Government had made it easier to maintain the Convention and to induce President Kruger and the Raad to concede what they demanded. They had no desire but to be on the most friendly terms with the people and the Government of the Transvaal, but they believed that the people who were developing the country had been subjected to laws of a most oppressive and galling character. They hoped President Kruger and his Government would realise that the Transvaal people would not be satisfied until they had secured their freedom.

country was to make friends of the people who were developing its resources. But one thing was certain as far as the present Government was concerned, that, while they welcomed with the greatest cordiality any overtures which might be made, they told President Kruger in a voice which could not be mistaken that, whatever the consequences, they were determined to maintain their position as the paramount Power in South Africa, and to insist on the due observance of the Convention.—Mr. T. H. Bowles, M.P., moved, and Col. King seconded, a resolution of congratulation to Her Majesty upon the growth of the British Empire during her long reign, which was carried amid applause.

THE THEATRES.

COVENT GARDEN.

A grand opera season has once more been initiated at Covent Garden Theatre, and it is one which gives promise of much success. If the management of the theatre is as good as that of the late Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years, the Covent Garden Theatre will be able to give the public a series of operas which will be well worth the price of the tickets. The management of the theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years.

OUR LOCAL THEATRES.

To-morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Kendal appear in "All for Her" at the Grand, in which they will give a return visit to the theatre. The play is a comedy in three acts, and is a very good one. The management of the theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years.

HALLS AND PALACES. IN THE DIVORCE COURT.

As a result of the Tivoli matinee in aid of the Charing Cross Hospital, Mr. Dore, who was the manager of the theatre for many years, has been elected to the post of manager of the theatre. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years.

PALACE.

Lotie Collins was sure of a hearty welcome when she returned to the scene of her triumphs, for the public do not forget one who has gained their approval by many an exhibition of intelligence and talent. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years.

HAMMERSMITH.

Few places can boast a school of talent such as that associated with the Messrs. Hammersmith, and few have the opportunity thus afforded of constantly introducing absolutely fresh "turns" into the programme. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. The Covent Garden Theatre is now in the hands of Mr. Augustus Harris, who was the manager of the theatre for many years.

PHIL HERMAN.

Deriding of "The Last Grip," a song which was sung by Phil Herman, who was the manager of the theatre for many years. Everybody who can by any possibility be supposed to have any kind of an official or semi-official position is to be provided with a seat on the great procession. But there is one exception. I don't hear of provision being made for the veterans and sailors. Surely they are people ought to be considered, in a prominent position. I don't know how is due to their efforts more to those of any other class. Certainly they have contributed more to the glories of the record reign than the Nonconformist ministers, who I said, to be provided for the occasion. The officers of the fund give the children gratuitously, and direct every penny subscribed to go directly towards the expenses of the fund. A very pleasant feature of the work, and one which shows how greatly it is appreciated, is the fact that many parents contribute small sums towards the cost of their children's holiday.

by their course of action tend themselves against the sympathy of the audience. For the spy not deceives the girl he loves as he is, the secret enemy instead, but as the pretended friend of her father, and she is deceived by her affection for him to suborn an accomplice in his treachery. For her part, sacrifices her patriotism to love, conscious that by treachery she is betraying the cause for which one brother is another is wounded, and her father is killed. The audience, in the story, however, the audience too much moved to consider the morality of the spy and his heart from the critical standpoint. Skillfully as the dramatist has years bandmaster of the R.N.A. Portsmouth. Mr. Winterbottom was tired from that post to take up the position of bandmaster of the Artists' Rifles in London. He was a very popular and masterful, and his death is much regretted by all who knew him.

VETERAN CYCLIST.

At Norwood Cottages Hospital, H. Henry French, aged 80, of Stanley-road, Crofton, is suffering from severe injuries to the head as the result of a fall from his bicycle. Mr. French was riding along Leigham Court-road, Streatham, when something went wrong with one of the tyres of his machine, and he was thrown violently to the ground. He was removed to the hospital, where he was treated.

The result of the election is that Moderates have gained 2 seats and 2 Independent candidates ran. Progressives 10 seats. Seven Social and 2 Independent candidates ran; none gained a seat.

STAFFORD-LE-BOW.—The election was held at the same place as the previous one, but the place was a bare, unprotected one.

BASEBALL.
DERBY v. REMINGTONS.
 Six thousand spectators were present to watch match at Derby. The home team took the lead but failed to get over to the winners the seventh innings. Derby then got going and scored winners by 21 runs from 10. Bloomer, Armstrong and E. Lambert were the scorers. Clive, Turner, and Slattery did the same for the losers.

In the course of a long speech yesterday the Italian Premier denied that any secret treaty had been made with the Regus of Abyssinia, and said that

IN A MANX MINE.

NINETEEN MEN SUFFOCATED

BY LEAD FUMES.

A mine disaster by which 19 lives ## have been lost occurred this week ## at the Snaefell Lead Mine in the Isle ## of Man. A shot had been fired at 1.30 ## on the previous morning. Since ## that time no one had occasion to enter ## the mine until 8 o'clock, when, the ## morning "shift" went down the ## shaft. The mine was filled with ## poisonous fumes and intense heat, and ## as the men descended they were over## powered one by one. Many had gone ## down before it was found that any## thing was wrong. A relief party ## proceeded down the shaft, but were com## pelled to return, as it was impossible ## to get beyond the 60-fathom level. In ## spite of the deadly fumes, however, the ## rescuers were able to bring to the sur## face 2 men about 1 o'clock, both un## conscious. One dead body was subse## quently recovered. Every effort was ## made during the rest of the day, but ## little hope was entertained that the ## other miners would be brought out ## alive, though the air was becoming ## better.

WORK OF THE RESCUERS.

Just before the ill-fated morning ## shift descended the shaft, 3 miners, ## named Hargrove and John Quayle, ## came to Capt. Kewley and asked for a ## supply of dynamite. The procuring of ## the explosive delayed them, and prob## ably saved the lives of the two young ## men, for when they reached the 60-## fathom level when Quayle was almost ## overpowered by what he believed to ## be smoke, and making the best of his ## way to the surface, informed Capt.

Kewley that the mine was on fire. Capt.

Kewley at once caused the after## noon shift to be summoned, and sent ## for the School of Port Arthur. De## scended the shaft, and from the ## Chapel Fleet and Coastguard ships.

CHILDREN TO BE REVIEWED.

Even the school children will not be ## neglected in Jubilee week. Many a ## little heart will beat with pleasure to ## know that the Queen has not forgot## tened the school children of the metrop## olis. We are informed that her Ma## jesty has consented to review 10,000 ## children of the metropolis, who will be ## reviewed on June 22. The idea origi## nated from her Majesty, and the ## Princess of Wales has been making ar## rangements on her behalf. A commit## tee has been formed to carry out the ## arrangements. At a meeting held ## this week at the offices of the School ## Board in London, it was decided to ## allow the 10,000 seats for the children ## in a methodical proportion amongst ## the various Board and non-Board ## schools of London according to the de## mographic returns.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE BEEN ## arranged that on Jubilee Day the Lord

Mayor, who will be accompanied by ## Sheriff Ritchie and Rogers, will, on ## horseback, receive her Majesty at the ## entrance to the City at the Tower ## where the Lord Mayor has been de## puted to receive her Majesty. The ## Lord Mayor will wear his ## ermine robes and the S.S. chain and ## badge, and the Sheriffs will wear ## velvet court dress, scarlet gowns, and ## chains. The ancient ceremony at the ## Tower will be performed at 11 o'clock, ## and will be concluded at 12 o'clock.

The Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs ## will then proceed to receive her Ma## jesty at the entrance to the City at ## the Tower. The Lord Mayor will ## wear his ermine robes and the S.S.

chain and badge, and the Sheriffs ## will wear velvet court dress, scarlet ## gowns, and chains. The ancient ceri## mony at the Tower will be performed ## at 11 o'clock, and will be concluded ## at 12 o'clock. The Lord Mayor and

This image shows a vertical strip of a book's binding. The left side is a plain, light-colored surface, possibly paper or cloth. The right side features a dark, textured material, likely leather, which is part of the book's cover. A metal clasp or hinge mechanism is visible on the right edge, consisting of a series of small, dark, rectangular pieces attached to the leather. The overall appearance is aged and worn.
